

for each food item (n=89 total). The point intervals represent the 89% probability intervals of the prior distributions. The mean values of the point intervals (dark blue) match the empirical count of ranks (light blue box plot) for each food item, with limited uncertainty, indicating a good model fit to the data.